KUROPATKIN STARTS FOR ST. PETERSBURG

His Dismissal is Regarded as Another Russian Blunder.

Battle Reported in Progress Near Tie Ling--The New Commander.

London, Mar. 17.—The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent reports a fierce battle proceeding north of Tie Ling.

Russia Blunders Again.
London, Mar. 17.—Critics believe that Russia erred in recalling Kuropatkin. They think him abler than other Russian generals and more familiar with Jap methods. Experts always held him blameless for the defeats. The Japs are pleased at his recall.

Names Chief of Staff.
St. Petersburg, Mar. 17.—General Soukhomlenoff has named his staff chief, with Linevich Kuropatkin's successor. A temporary war council will be organized in Manchuria. The official Messenger mentions Kuropatkin's dismissal briefly, with no reference to distinguished services.

Succeeds Kuropatkin.
St. Petersburg, Mar. 17.—It is officially announced that Kuropatkin will be replaced by General Linevich, as commander-in-chief of the Manchurian army.

Serious Reverses.
London, Mar. 17.—St. Petersburg dispatch to the Times gives unconfirmed reports that the Russian army sustained a severe reverse at Tie Pass, involving the abandonment of their remaining artillery, and that the Japanese have cut the railway north of Changtufu forty miles above Tie Pass.

Retreat Cut Off.
London, Mar. 17.—An unconfirmed report received says the Japs have cut off the Russian retreat. Opinions are divided as to whether the Russians will retreat steadily northward or try a junction with the Vladivostok forces. It is believed that the fresh Japanese army which sailed in January has landed near Vladivostok.

Took Many Prisoners.
Tokio, Mar. 17.—Late dispatches say that the Japs captured many prisoners at Tie Ling. The Russians burned large quantities of stores before evacuating.

London, Mar. 17.—A Central News agency dispatch says that Kuropatkin left Tie Ling Wednesday night on a special train for St. Petersburg.

The Alliance Weakening.
Birmingham, Mar. 17.—The Post says Russia is about to withdraw special privileges to French war correspondents. This is regarded as a sign of a weakening of the Franco-Russian alliance.

LOST 10,000 KILLED.
Paris, Mar. 17.—A Petit Journal St. Petersburg dispatch says that Gen. Kuropatkin lost eighty guns and nineteen thousand killed and wounded at Tie Ling.

More About the Battle.
London, Mar. 17.—From a dispatch to the Telegraph from Simin-tin, descriptive of the battle of Mukden, it appears that Kuropatkin left for Tie Pass on horseback March 8, his staff following by train the next day.

March 10, the Cossacks began looting in Mukden and maddened with drink, committed the wildest excesses and robberies and killed numerous civilians. The Russians' retreat from Mukden Station was well executed until it was discovered that a cordon of Japanese in the rear, two and a half miles from town, was nearly complete, when the retreat became flight.

The Russian left army, comprising 150,000 men, according to the same dispatch, were cut off by the Japanese, but forced marches executed a junction with the main body at Tie Pass in three days.

The Telegraph's correspondent at Tokio learns that the Japanese left army advanced towards Mukden at flying speed, and the last four days, covered respectively 35, 36, 30 and 15 miles. One force sent specially to search for Kuropatkin and staff, but they had already gone.

The battlefield, especially in the vicinity of Likampu, five miles west of the railroad, presents a terrible sight. Fully two thousand bodies are still lying on the field. This locality was the scene of the fiercest fight of the left armies.

A division of Japanese attacked Likampu and a small village south and drove Russians out, inflicting serious loss. The Russians being reinforced counter-attacked the village, driving out the Japanese and inflicting enormous losses. The thirty-third regiment, south of the village, was practically annihilated, receiving in front and on the flank an artillery fire before the infantry attacked.

The Japanese dead were piled in heaps behind the low mud walls of the village. The Russian dead were scattered over the field, almost carpeting it. There were also evidences of desperate hand to hand fighting near the village. Bodies of Japanese and Russians were piled together in scores. Likampu was the scene of a fierce street and house-to-house struggle. Every street, lane and compound wall shows its heap of dead. Many buildings were burned, cremating wounded who crawled into them for shelter.

RACE WAR BREWING.

In Mississippi, Two Officers and Two Negroes Dead.

Greenville, Miss., Mar. 17.—Officers who went from here to arrest the negroes who shot Deputies Duke and Leonard at Dudley last night returned with two dead negroes and two prisoners. The dead men were killed during a battle between the officers and the negroes assembled in a house where it was believed the suspect was hiding. Much excitement prevails and it is feared the affair will lead to more serious results.

Caught a Robber.

Iowa City, Iowa, Mar. 17.—Clifford Brown, operator of the Rock Island railway at Oxford, was attacked by highwaymen while removing mail from a train. Brown overpowered his assailant and held him prisoner at revolver's point until officers came. The fellow gave his name as Larry Mangovan of Iowa City, and is now in jail at Oxford.

Brothers Killed.

Chicago, Mar. 17.—Charles J. and M. H. Linka, brothers and stone contractors, were found dead in a shanty office yesterday. They met to settle a dispute over profits. The police think Charles killed his brother and then himself.

Don't Want Philippines.

Washington, Mar. 17.—Japanese Minister Takahira denies that Japan wants the Philippines, as Congressman Hull, of the house military committee, is quoted as saying in an Iowa interview.

The Strenuous Life for Chickens.

Marion, O., Mar. 17.—Dr. E. O. Richardson, the poultry expert who recently claimed he was able to reduce the hatching time from 21 to 19 1-2 days, now says he can make a hen lay two eggs daily.

Topeka, Kan., Mar. 17.—Frank Burret, a 60-year-old hermit, has been found dead in a tumbled-down shack. The man's face and hands and feet had been eaten away by rats.

Cut by Hay Knife.

Evansville, Ind., Mar. 17.—L. J. Barnett of Warrick county, Ind., was nearly cut in two by a hay knife falling on him. He will die.

WORDY WAR TODAY IN HOLLAND CASE

Judge Reed Objected to Defense's Statement.

The Judge Had to Order Less Exciting Words—First Witness Testified Today.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN CASE

Benton, Ky., Mar. 17.—A clash between the opposing counsel in the Holland case came today during the statement of Col. Hendrick, for the defense.

Judge Reed objected to a statement of what was said by Sheriff Holland to his friend just preceding the killing.

In the war of words which followed, Judge Brown admonished the counsel that he would exert his full authority to suppress any disturbance.

The statement referred to was permitted to go to the jury.

Geo. M. Cox, of Clinton, was the first witness. He testified that he saw the killing. Holland and Keys were ten feet apart. He heard Keys say, "You are a G—d—lar," and then saw Holland fire two shots.

Keys began to fall, and the witness fled from the scene. A rigid cross examination failed to shake his testimony, but developed the admission that the witness had not told anyone of his knowledge of the facts until several months after the killing.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the case, and the courtroom is crowded with spectators, while the town is full of witnesses and others interested in the trial.

The jury was secured yesterday late, and is as follows:

W. G. Jones, A. D. Rudolph, Chas. Waldrop, A. C. Faith, J. L. Cole, R. F. Ford, R. F. Morrison, Joe M. Houser, Joe M. Humphrey, Henry A. Story, Richard Kelley and Thos. A. Robertson.

There is a strong array of talent on both sides. On the side of the commonwealth, are W. M. Reed, S. H. Crossland, A. D. Thompson, Jno. G. Lovett, commonwealth's attorney, and County Attorney Geo. C. Edwards. For the defense, Jas. B. Garnett, Jno. C. Hendrick, J. C. Coleman, Will Linn, A. J. G. Wells, J. M. Fisher and N. B. Barnett.

AGAINST CARMACK.

Ex-Gov. Taylor Will Probably Make the Race for the Senate.

Nashville, Tenn., March 17.—While he will make no statement for publication, it is evident that unless Ex-Gov. Taylor changes his mind, he will be a candidate for Senator against Carmack two years hence. The ex-governor is very caustic in his criticism of the alleged "snap caucus" and of some of the men who brought it about and he is tuning his fiddle for a senatorial campaign from Carter to Shelby next year. The genial lecturer says he knows the masses are for him over any man in the state, and next year, if he is of his present frame of mind, he is going to prove it.

The President in New York.

New York, Mar. 17.—President Roosevelt is here a guest of honor to-night of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

At Delmonico's a spread will be set and a dispensation of the pope allows the banqueters to eat anything on the menu. After the address the president attends a dinner of the Sons of the American Revolution at Hotel Astor. It is estimated that sixty thousand were in the St. Patrick parade this afternoon.

Call For Bank Report.

Washington, Mar. 17.—The comptroller of the currency calls for national bank settlements at the close of business March fourteenth.

Fire in Peru, Ind.

Peru, Ind., Mar. 17.—Half a square of business houses in the village of Amboy burned; loss $10,000.

WARRANTS ISSUED IN SMALL POX CASES

Dr. Frank Boyd and J. F. Nicholson in One Case.

Dr. Boyd Says There is Not the Slightest Foundation For the Charge Against Him.

ALSO TWO OTHER WARRANTS.

A case that may develop some interesting and unexpected features before it is disposed of by the courts, came to light this afternoon when warrants were issued by Police Judge Sanders against Dr. Frank Boyd and J. F. Nicholson for alleged failing to report a case of smallpox.

Warrants were at the same time issued against two negroes named Griffin, who run a boarding house at Second and Clark streets, for alleged wilfully concealing the existence of smallpox.

Health Officer W. T. Graves was at the city hall this morning and furnished the information on which the warrants are based. The warrants themselves were not issued until this afternoon, before which time Dr. Boyd had heard of the proceeding and gone to the city hall and acknowledged service, no bond being required.

Dr. Boyd said to a reporter that the warrant is most unjust towards him, as he has never concealed a single case of smallpox, and would not do it. He said the facts could easily have been ascertained by the health officer.

"All I know about this case," Dr. Boyd said, "is that several weeks ago Mr. Nicholson sent for me. I found him in his home over Smith's barber shop on South Third street, near Broadway, suffering from headache, and fever and as we often do in such cases, asked him if he had been exposed to smallpox. He said he had not, asked me why, and I jokingly told him that if he had been exposed I might think he was taking smallpox. I instructed him to send for me the following day if he was no better, and he said he would.

"I never heard from him again, and never called on him or treated him. The next time I saw him was a short time ago, when he called me and asked me if I remembered what I had told him, and when I did not, he reminded me that I asked him if he had been exposed to smallpox. He then told me that two or three days later he broke out with the disease, and didn't let anyone know anything about it. He said he had it two or three weeks, and when he got well burned a large quantity of sulphur in his room, and had taken other precautions for fumigating the premises. I told him he had violated the law in not reporting it when he discovered he had smallpox and could be handled for it, but it wasn't my duty to make a report of what he told me, and which I didn't know to be true. I was not the man's doctor and knew no more about his having smallpox than the health officer. This is all there is to the case, and I don't understand why a man should be treated in such a manner as this when the most cursory investigation would have shown that there were not the slightest grounds for getting a warrant against me."

In the charge against the negroes, the city seems to have a sure case. The health officer states that a negro who was recently taken to the pest house told them that he knew where "there's some moah, but dey wants to keep it quiet."

He finally said it was in Griffin's boarding house at Second and Clark and there they found Bud Ellis with a fully developed case.

Mr. Nicholson is a well-known insurance man who has been living over the barber shop for sometime past.

Mr. Nicholson was this afternoon arrested by Officer Johnson and gave bond. The cases will come up tomorrow morning.

In Dr. Boyd's case a mistake has evidently been made, and he will easily show that he knew nothing about Mr. Nicholson having smallpox. These cases are the first of their kind in quite a while. There has been a great deal of complaint in regard to smallpox cases not being reported, and of violating quarantine

WERE SWORN IN.

County Committeemen Were On Hand at the Court House.

A meeting of the Democratic county committee was held at the county court house this afternoon, and lasted only about twenty minutes. There were twenty out of thirty-five committeemen present. Chairman W. A. Derry stated that "inasmuch as the Republicans had raised the question of their having to be sworn in, the members would be sworn in. He said he did not think it necessary, but that to be on the safe side it would be done. The committeemen were then sworn in, Deputy County Clerk Ashbrook administering the oath.

The committee then, ratified everything that the subcommittee and the committee as a whole had previously done, including the calling of the primary for March 30. A number of changes of precinct officers were ratified.

The funny part of the meeting was the effort of the chairman to put off on the Republicans the responsibility for the ignorance of the Democratic committeemen in not knowing that they had to be sworn in. The Republicans didn't even know they hadn't been sworn in until the call for the meeting for today had been made, and it was talked about on the quiet that it was to swear in the committeemen and ratify what had already been done.

COLORADO FRAUDS ELOQUENTLY REBUKED

Gov. Peabody Seated by the State Legislature Yesterday.

He Will Resign in Favor of Lieutenant Governor—Adams Retires.

Denver, Mar. 17.—James H. Peabody won his contest for the governorship from which he retired January 10, after serving a term of two years, but this victory was achieved only after he had given his pledge to resign and surrender the chair to Lieut. Gov. McDonald. The vote in joint convention of the general assembly by which Adams was ousted and Peabody installed was 51 to 41.

It was more in the nature of a party than a personal triumph, for both Peabody and McDonald are Republicans, and Adams is a Democrat.

Although the Republican majority on joint ballot is 35, it had been found impossible to gain for Peabody enough Republican votes to re-instate him as governor for the remainder of the term ending January, 1907.

Twenty-two Republican members, according to report, refused to be bound by any action in caucus in the contest, and entered into a compact not to vote for Peabody. A majority of them, however, were in favor of seating the lieutenant governor in the governor's chair if means could be found to do so legally. Finally, the leaders of the opposing Republican factions arranged a compromise by which Peabody would be vindicated by being declared elected and McDonald be made governor.

Peabody's resignation, it is said, was placed in the hands of W. S. Boynton, and will be filed by him with the secretary of state today. Adams, who had spent the day packing his effects, surrendered his office to Peabody shortly after five yesterday afternoon. Scores of letters, telegrams, and telephone messages had reached the executive chamber during the day urging Adams to hold his seat by force but he decided to ignore this advice. In conversation, he said he felt outraged at the action of the general assembly and expressed surprise that Peabody should become a party to what he termed a conspiracy to secure the office of governor for a man who had no claim whatever to the place.

Governor Peabody was escorted before the joint assembly by a committee after the adoption of the report and resolutions restoring him to the office of governor. He was greeted with cheers. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Gabbert. Peabody thanked the members of the legislature for having "done their duty." He said his election would do away once for all with criminal elections and if this end was attained great good would come to the state.

Peabody, accompanied by Adjutant General Bell and a number of friends, went directly to the governor's chamber after the conclusion of the inauguration ceremony. Adams had left when Peabody arrived, but the retiring governor's private secretary, Alfred Patek, was still in the office. Peabody introduced himself to Patek, remarking that he had been seated as governor and offered to shake hands.

Patek drew back and uttered a contemptuous remark, which caused Col. Cross to seize Patek and demand that he repeat the remark. Before Patek could reply, Bell separated the men.

Peabody remained in the office about twenty minutes, receiving congratulations from many callers.

CUTE LITTLE CASTRO

WANTS TO INVADE THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY.

President of Venezuela Would Invade Us—Wouldn't This Make You Laugh?

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Mar. 17.—According to trustworthy advices received here the "situation in Venezuela is unchanged, both internally and as to foreign affairs, except that relations between President Castro and the various legations at Caracas are a little more strained. Castro has now ceased to talk with European representatives concerning Venezuelan indebtedness and the recent recall of Antonio Velutini, who has been in Europe endeavoring to settle with the British and German bondholders, is regarded as an indication that the negotiations have failed.

Castro maintains his belligerent attitude and continues to make military preparations. He apparently regards an attack on Porto Cabello and Laguaira as probable and has mounted six new French six-inch guns and a number of small guns on the heights overlooking these ports and has available three small coast defense vessels.

It is said a majority of Venezuelans look upon the possibility of foreign intervention either with indifference or favorably, as present internal conditions are causing much unrest.

Castro's attitude is reflected in a pamphlet just issued through one of his advisors in which plans for sending thirty thousand Venezuelans against New Orleans are disclosed. The pamphlet urges the public to avenge the insults offered Venezuela by Americans and declares the invasion of the Mississippi valley would be the most effective means of curbing the power of the United States.

Heaven and earth fight in vain against a dunce.—Schiller.

What to Do for Heart Trouble

I back up my advice with this remarkable offer—A Full Dollar's Worth of my Remedy Free to Prove that I am Right.

I ask no reference, no deposit, no security. There is nothing to promise, nothing to pay—either now or later. To any heart sufferer who has not tried my remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—I will gladly give, free, not a mere sample, but a full dollar bottle.

I am warranted in making this unusual offer because mine is no ordinary remedy. It does not vainly try to stimulate the heart. Such treatments are worse than useless. It goes straight to the cause of all heart trouble—the heart nerves—and strengthens them. Then that is the end of heart diseases.

For the heart is a common sponge. It is made to beat by a tender nerve so tiny that it is scarcely visible to the naked eye. Yet ten thousand times a day this delicate nerve must cause the heart to expand and contract.

The heart is about the size of your clenched fist. Open and close your fist a dozen times, even, and you will see the monstrous labor this little nerve must do.

The heart nerve is only one of the branches of the great sympathetic nervous system. Each branch of this system is so closely allied with the others that weakness or irregularity of any point is apt to spread. Heart trouble frequently arises from stomach trouble through sympathy, and kidney trouble may also follow. For each of these organs is operated by a branch of the same sympathetic nerves—the inside nerves.

The bond of sympathy between the nerves that operate the vital organs has a useful purpose, as well. For what will cure weakness in one branch will surely cure weakness in every branch—what will restore one center, will surely restore them all.

There is nothing new about this—nothing any physician would dispute. But it remains for Dr. Shoop to apply this knowledge—to put it to practical use. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the result of a quarter of a century of endeavor along this very line. It does not dose the organ or deaden the pain—but it does go at once to the nerve—the inside nerve—the power nerve—and builds it up, and strengthens it and makes it well.

If you have heart trouble and have never tried my remedy, merely write and ask. I will send you an order on your druggist which he will accept as gladly as he would accept a dollar. He will send you from his shelves a standard sized bottle of my prescription, and he will send the bill to me. This offer is made only to strangers to my remedy—those who have never used the Restorative do not need this evidence.

There are no conditions—no requirements. It is open and frank and fair. It is the supreme test of my limitless belief. All that I ask you to do is to write—write today.

ANOTHER REUNION.

Is Talked of Among Confederate Veterans in Paducah.

Members of the local Confederate Veterans Camp are anxious to hold another reunion in Paducah, and at the regular meeting of James Walbert Camp next Tuesday evening Adj. Grief will broach the matter. The reunion of the Second Brigade was held here two years ago and the old vets were delighted with their stay, although the weather was particularly bad.

They said when they left that it was one of the most delightful reunions they ever attended and intimated that they would always be glad to come again. It is possible they may be invited back this fall.

The Thomas Nevins will arrive today from Caseyville with coal, and the Harvester will take three of the barges with four other barges, to Memphis.

DEPUTY JAILER HOME FROM THE EAST

Was Witness in Big Murder
Trial in Connecticut.

Thinks Paul Herbert Schmidt's
Case Went to the Jury
Today.

A HARD FIGHT BEING MADE

Deputy Jailer Harry Rudolph returned this morning at 3:30 o'clock from Bridgeport, Conn., where he attended the murder trial of Paul Herbert Schmidt as a witness for the prosecution, and says the case will likely go to jury today and that a vigorous prosecution and equally as vigorous defense is being made.

Mr. Rudolph left here more than two weeks ago and had nothing to do save swear to a written confession made by Schmidt while in jail here waiting for officers to carry him back to the scene of his crime. Deputy Jailer Rudolph stated that each witness was examined and re-examined and made to remain on the stand, some for a day, others longer, but rarely ever less than six or eight hours.

It is the opinion of Deputy Jailer Rudolph that Schmidt will get at least a life sentence although every means is being adopted by the defense to prove self defense.

Schmidt killed William Taylor, a farm hand on the Crittenton farm near Sherman, Conn., and escaped to Kentucky. He worked here a while and one morning stole Officer Tom Murray's pistol and star and skipped out, later being arrested and returned. While in jail here his identity was revealed through a letter home, and a Pinkerton detective was sent here. Schmidt was identified while in jail for robbery, and broke down and admitted he killed Taylor, but claimed self-defense.

AWAITING A REPLY.

The Illinois Central Has Not Yet
Formed the City About Culvert.

Mayor Yeiser is waiting a reply from the I. C. road relative to the Caldwell street culvert which the city proposes to build under the last bridge going out to the depot.

The board of public works reported the bridge unsubstantial and recommended a concrete culvert, suggesting that the I. C. be asked to sand a portion of the expense. Supt. A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division, was written and he referred the matter to the higher officials in Chicago who have not yet answered.

His Nephew Dead.

Mr. George Richardson, of the local I. C. woodworking shops, received a telegram this morning announcing the death of his nephew, Mr. Frank Donahue, of Louisville, in Louisville yesterday. He will leave tonight for Louisville to attend the funeral.

A Distinguished Gathering of New Things in Shirts

We are showing all our Spring lines in men's shirts and are enthusiastic over them. You will be too when you see them.

Earl and Wilson contribute a lot of handsome conceits in pure linen, white and tans, that will catch your fancy, $3.50.

The Manhattans are in too. They come in a number of new shades and colors, pinks and blues, tans and whites, greys—the whole gamut, $2.00, 2.50.

The Emery lines from $1.00 to $2.00 contain as neat effects as you can find.

For work shirts, we also are showing new patterns for Spring.

Come in soon to see all of them. You must to appreciate them.

The Best in Men's Spring Suits

We have assembled the best lines of Men's, Youths' and Children's Clothing for Spring that we have ever had.

The manufacturer of ready-to-wear garments has made remarkable strides and the showings this Spring will convince any man that the highest price tailors can not compete with such lines.

The new styles are handsome in the extreme—extra long double and single-breasted Coats, broad shoulder, snug fitting collars, trousers inclined to a fullness—they are about the nobbiest things the clothing art has yet produced.

From $30 down.

A Remarkably Handsome Exhibit of Children's Clothing

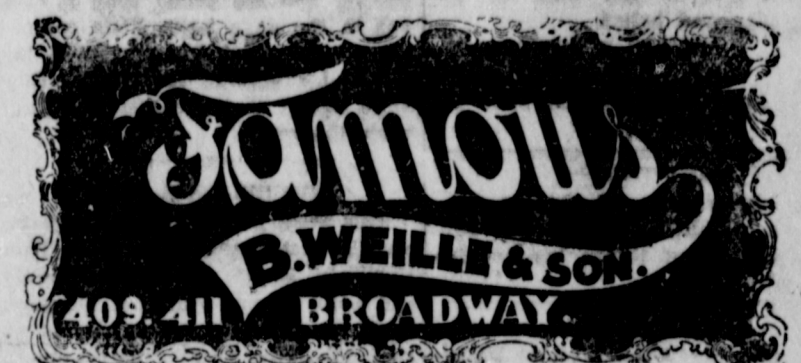

Just hosts of little fellows have been in the past week to get an early selection from the remarkably handsome things in Children's Clothing we are showing.

The new styles are pleasing, modest and attractive, and the fabrics equally so.

The Russian Blouses will be worn a great deal, and grays and light colored fabrics will be popular.

We merely want you to see how these garments are made up, the splendid finish in every little detail, the weave of the cloth and its wearing qualities.

The prices cover a wide range, each the lowest consistent.

INCLINE AFIRE

WAS DISCOVERED BY ENGINE-
MEN AND EXTINGUISHED.

Only Slight Damage Had Been Done
—Fire Department Not Called Out.

Mr. W. A. Hunter, foreman of engine No. 199 in the local I. C. switching service, and Engineer J. J. Hunter, have devolved into excellent auxiliaries to Fire Chief Woods and his men.

Last night shortly after 9 o'clock a fire was discovered on the I. C. incline leading from Sixth and Campbell streets to the river. The trestle was afire underneath the tracks and when the engine crew was notified of the conflagration, ran engine No. 199 to the trestle and extinguished the blaze with the engine hose.

One pile was burned nearly in two and the flames had spread quite a distance on the cross pieces. The damage was little, but had the fire not been discovered at this opportune time, it might have caused a serious conflagration.

A few months ago Engineer Shepherd, of the freight yard switch engine, extinguished the flag house at Sixth and Campbell streets which was burning briskly, with his engine hose.

A BAD NIGHT.

But It Is Still Thought Hubbard Will Recover.

James (Red) Hubbard, who got both legs cut off below the knees, while working with a cut of box cars in the Paducah-N. C. and St. L. yards yesterday morning, passed a very bad night, but is resting easy today.

Hubbard suffered a great deal last night, getting practically no sleep, but his physicians say if he pulls through tomorrow and Sunday without complications or change for the worse, he will recover.

Mr. Oliver Salyer, of the I. C. woodworking shops, was struck in the left ear by a jack lever yesterday afternoon and partially stunned. The ear was badly mangled but he is not permanently or seriously injured.

Theatrical Notes

Mr. George Smith, the violinist, is now making a tour of Germany, and is winning much praise wherever he goes.

The "First Part," or opening, with Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels, is said to be the most elaborate setting ever shown by a minstrel company.

It is called "The Military Camp Scene in the Philippine Islands" and is the perfection of the scenic artist's and electrician's skill. In fact the whole performance is marked with beautiful scenery and wardrobe. In every act special scenery is used.

The principals of this season are: Clarence Powell, who is famous for his comedy; clever Billy Young, Bailey and Crawford, Beaupard and Williams, Cooper, the ventriloquist; Boonsky, the magician; Clarence Johnson, hoop controller; William Goode, the sweet tenor, and the famous "Ham-Town" Serenaders' Quartette. The whole to conclude with an uproarously funny afterpiece entitled "Jim Jackson on the Pike" at the World's Fair. At the Kentucky theater on Monday night. Entire balcony reserved for colored people.

The large audience at The Kentucky last night enjoyed "A Fatal Wedding," and Miss Ewing and her support received deserved applause. The work of this company is perhaps more finished than that of any stock company that has been here this season, and the specialties were again well received. Tonight "A Lady of Lyons," will be played. The scenery and wardrobe are carried especially for the play by Miss Ewing, and a large crowd is expected.

$6,000 FUND

Is Available for Furnishing the New Hospital.

The doctors, who are taking a great deal of interest in the new city hospital, are feeling rather discouraged over the city's indifference in the matter of equipping the institution.

A city official stated this morning that the new city hospital could be equipped at once even though no direct appropriation had been made for it, it being possible to take the money out of the $6,000 appropriation for hospital, pauper and charity.

"The city has an appropriation of $6,000 this year in this fund," he explained "and I think the new hospital might be equipped from this, or partially furnished at least. It would not be taking the money from the wrong fund because this fund is set aside for hospital, charity and the new city hospital embraces them all."

Detective Dinneen Goes Through.

Detective W. T. Dinneen, of the Louisville division of the I. C., passed through the city this morning en route to Princeton from Cairo. Detective Dinneen will have to go to Greenville Saturday to appear against Hubert Baker, charged with malicious cutting with intent to kill. He tried to cut Conductor Hansbro on an accommodation train two years ago while he, Baker, was very drunk and trying to ride free.

DEFECTIVE COUPLER

Causes a Car to Break Through Planing Mill.

A big stock car broke loose from a yard switch engine in the I. C. shop yards yesterday afternoon and ran partially through the planing mill, demolishing one door but fortunately doing little damage.

There were a number of woodworkers about the track the car came in on, and when the crash came it sounded as if the house was falling down. Everybody ran and the excitement was great for a few minutes. The door was demolished and will have to be replaced by a new one, but the car escaped with slight damage.

The car was being handled by engine No. 1562 but the accident was not attributed to the fault of the crew but to a defective coupler.

Daily Thought.

"We grow strong through assuming responsibilities, by bearing burdens and doing things we acquire power."

The Weather.

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; very little change in temperature.

FURNISH THE HOSPITAL.

Why is nothing done towards furnishing the new city hospital? Why has nothing been done before now? The hospital has been in course of construction for several months. The mayor and general council knew it would have to be furnished; they knew that if Paducah expected to have and maintain an up-to-date hospital some departure must be made from the archaic and obsolete methods of management now in vogue here. Yet nothing has been done. The city itself has sought to accomplish nothing, and has asked no help in solving the problems that it has known all along would have to be solved sooner or later. It has supinely refrained from doing anything—and now the hospital is finished.

One excuse offered is that there is no money. If the city can borrow money for additional fire equipment, can spend nearly $2,000 for property for opening a "street" away out somewhere in a locality where no one wants a street except real estate boomers, and buy another graveyard for about $6,000 for the benefit of those who are constantly in imminent danger of having to use it because of the city's filthy condition, why can it not arrange to get the money to furnish the new hospital? It has not even made an effort to sell the old hospital and raise the funds. Obviously, our officials should wake up.

In connection with providing this hospital equipment a good suggestion is made by some of the public spirited doctors. They are confident that if the city would invite offers, enough people in Paducah would furnish wards in memory of deceased friends or relatives to equip a large part of the hospital. In fact, it is said several would be grateful for the opportunity of thus honoring the memory of some loved one. Why not try it? It would do no harm, and would be an evidence of public spirit—ness and interest in our new hospital, that have thus far been entirely lacking in the local boards controlling the hospital. If there must be graft, confine it to other departments, and spare the hospital. Let Paducah have at least one thing outside of the cemetery, run exclusively in the interest of the people, especially as the people for whom the hospital is intended will necessarily be largely the unfortunate.

At any rate, get to work and do something!

FIRE INSURANCE.

The fire insurance question is one that has aroused more than ordinary interest in Paducah during the past few years, and all people do not seem to view it from the same standpoint. The Louisville Herald does not think the fire insurance companies are as bad as they are painted. It says under the caption "The Fire Insurance Trust:"

"The law was passed upon the idea that the companies are a trust that make and enforce arbitrary rates. The assumption is not true. Rates are made by the fire loss, not by the companies. The companies make the classifications of risks, and by pooling their statistical experience discover what is the rate for each class. * * * The ways of fire insurance are not always easy to find out. Here are Kentucky and Tennessee, very much alike in many conditions, that are placed in one jurisdiction by the companies for rate-making and inspection purposes. Last year Kentucky showed a fine profit for the companies, and Tennessee, with a higher general rate, netted a disastrous loss. The loss rate in both states has always been dangerously high and no more than a living profit has been made out of them—If, indeed, Tennessee has not been, on the whole, a losing field for a quarter of a century. Local companies started in both states have not been able to prosper, even though they enter the ranks of the associated companies and adopt their rates.

"Arkansas wants the companies to lay aside their experiences and do business on 'the best rate you can get' plan. It is as if brokers were asked to disregard market quotations and buy and sell securities on their own limited knowledge. The companies, by associating together, save the public enormous cost. They make inspections and surveys for the benefit of all, when to make them singly would add largely to the rate of premiums. There is no doubt that some abuses creep in but fire insurance is cheaper and far better than it ever was in the days when little companies went around doing business 'by ear' and squeezing the utmost they could out of an insured who did not know the ropes."

HERN NOT GUILTY

FORMER PADUCAHAN ACQUITTED OF KILLING HIS FATHER.

Shot Him in a Saloon at Hopkinsville Nearly a Year Ago.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Mar. 17.—The jury in the case against Mack Hern, charged with the murder of his father, J. J. Hern, after being out over 48 hours, brought in a verdict at 11 a. m. today of not guilty.

Hern lived in Paducah at the time of the killing, and was a machinist in the I. C. shops. He had been on bad terms with his father and came to Hopkinsville last July 4th with a woman he introduced to some of his relatives, for which his father, who was bartender in a saloon, upbraided him. Hern was alleged to have left the saloon in a rage and returned a short time afterwards with a pistol, shooting his father down without warning.

Hern is well known in Paducah.

Here he had many friends. It was always thought here that the case was one of murder, but the verdict of the jury indicates that this was an erroneous impression.

The temperature has been quite high today, going to 80 this afternoon. This is not unusually warm for March, but it is quite warm for the weather that prevailed two or three weeks ago.

Honey is shipped from Cuba to Germany, the United States, France and other countries. The amount gathered this year exceeds $600,000 in value. About 80 per cent. of the wax exported is shipped to Germany, the rest to the United States, France and other countries; the total annual value is about $500,000.

Y. M. C. A. DAY.

City Being Canvassed by Membership Committee Today.

The membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. held an enthusiastic meeting last night at the association quarters. It was one of the largest and most representative meetings ever held at the Y. M. C. A. The plans for the all-day campaign were settled in every detail.

Today the city is being visited in every section by the different committees assigned to the various districts, and while the result will not be known in full until after the campaign closes tonight, it is assured that much success is being met with from the incomplete returns already in.

The committee of 190 is composed of some of the most representative business, and professional men in the city, with Councilman George O. McBroom as chairman, and a large percent of them are giving the entire day to the canvass. Some strenuous work is being done that will tell on the future of the association here.

Notice.

Members of Jersey camp W. O. W. are requested to be at the hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock, to hear report of delegates to Nashville, Tenn.

CONTRACT SIGNED.

The City to Soon Have a New Roller.

The board of public works yesterday afternoon late closed a contract for a new street roller after over a whole day's figuring with representatives of the American Road Roller Co., which secured the contract.

The contract signed gives the city a new street roller, allowing $1,250 for the old roller, $2,250 to be the cost of the new roller. The roller will be shipped within ninety days and will be first class in every respect.

so far apart, if other conditions can be agreed upon. This was the statement made by leading representatives of both interests. The operators and miners are confident that they will come to an amicable understanding after each separate item is discussed. The joint convention will take all of the items up and it may require several days to come to an agreement. The joint convention will be in session until Saturday at least.

Mr. N. W. Utley, of Lyon county, is at the Palmer House.

—Today is St. Patrick's Day, and it is being observed by the many friends in Paducah of St. Patrick, and his people. The green has been in evidence on every hand, and everyone is proud of it. St. Patrick's day in Paducah is one of our most delightful anniversaries, and none is remembered more regularly and extensively.

—Mr. Guy Vines, of the local I. C. woodworking shops, got his left hand caught under a truck yesterday afternoon and finger badly "chewed."

—Allen Ross, an eight-year-old boy of Second and Jackson streets, had the thumb of his left hand cut almost off yesterday while handling his brother a razor. His thumb became caught between the handle and blade.

—Sexton of Oak Grove William Porteous has written from Edinburgh, Scotland, that he is in a hospital for treatment of the vocal chords. When he left Paducah he suffered from paralysis of the throat and could speak only in whispers. He states that the specialists there say he can recover with proper treatment.

—Pink Baynes, of Metropolis, had a foot badly mashed yesterday while landing a raft there.

—Mr. P. D. Fitzpatrick, of the Paducah Transfer company, has a new automobile, a deep blue. It is a swift machine, and different from any owned in Paducah heretofore.

—Walter McClain who shot and killed his brother, Bert McClain, and John Canter at Lynville, Graves county, is still at large.

—The board of public works did not hold a meeting yesterday afternoon.

—The new racks are being placed up in the market house as rapidly as possible and add greatly to the attractiveness of the building. Some of the butchers complain that the hooks are not strong enough, but others say that they are amply strong unless a butcher expects to hang a whole quarter of beef on one. About one-fourth of the racks are already up.

—The Gas company is laying new mains down Second street, which is shortly to be paved south of Broadway.

—About all the county schools have closed except the one in District No. 23 and the one at Melber. The former closes in June, and the one at Melber in a short time. County Superintendent Ragsdale has decided to close the school in District No. 1, in the Grahamville section, as it has not averaged over three pupils, and the law requires at least 25 per cent of the school census enumeration.

—Born to the wife of Fireman Will Walters, of fire station No. 3, a fine boy baby.

—Today has been more like March than any day of the month. The wind has been disagreeable, although not very strong, on account of the dust. F. Whitlow, white, was arrested this afternoon on a charge of being disorderly in Whitehead's restaurant.

The words are from the Rubaiyat, and the music is by Liza Lehmann.

IN THE COURTS

Docket Made Out.

The docket for the criminal term of circuit court which begins the first Monday in April has been completed and shows sixty cases ready for trial. None is of unusual importance, but there are a great many prisoners in the county jail awaiting indictment and trial.

Term Extended.

Judge Bugg has extended the term of the Graves circuit court in order that the grand jury may complete its work of investigation in the now noted murder mystery, and the killing at Lynville last Saturday. The finding of the dead man in a straw stack near Mayfield and subsequent reports of murder in a crap game, and such things have aroused a great deal of interest, but nothing definite has ever yet been unearthed.

More Suits Being Prepared.

Thomas Jones and James Caudle will be the next two to file suit against the city for $10,000 damages for being worked on the streets. Attorney Werten is now preparing the papers.

The Wrong Man.

Detective T. J. Moore returned last evening from Rockport, Ky., where he went to identify the men supposed to be James Butler, a man wanted here for passing an alleged worthless check on the Sherrill-Russell Lumber Co. The man arrested was not the man, and was released by the authorities.

Witnesses Taken to Mayfield.

Frank Edmonds and Arthur Harrell, colored, wanted at Mayfield as witnesses in the Graves circuit court, were yesterday taken to Mayfield by Patrol Driver John Austin. Hub Rice, colored, is alleged to have cut Edmonds last December.

Police Court.

There was only one case in police court today, and that was dismissed. Q. Covington, charged with cutting Walter Dickinson, was discharged as the prosecuting witness could not be found.

SMALL SUITS FILED.

The following suits have been filed in circuit court since yesterday: Fulton-Conway Co., against Paducah Wagon works, for $311 on a note.

Robinson & Co. against J. J. Reid & Co., for a note of $1,000 and the enforcement of a lien on a traction engine.

MORE GOOD WORK.

Rev. Chiles Places His Twentieth Child.

Rev. R. W. Chiles procured a good home for Clarence Reynolds, a 12 year old boy, this morning, with Mr. Charles Giltner, of Unionville, Ill.

Mr. Giltner is a prominent farmer, has no children and will adopt and raise the boy. This boy is the 28th child Mr. Chiles has located in the last seven years. He also has another boy 14 years old, rather small for his age, that he wants some good family to take and raise as their own.

Mr. Chiles has worn his buggy out and would like for some one, who anticipates buying a new buggy to supply him with the old one, that the good work may go on.

ANONYMOUS LETTER.

Revolutionists Threaten to Blow Up Public Buildings.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—10 a. m.—Considerable excitement was caused here and at Warsaw by the receipt of anonymous letters expressing the intention to blow up public buildings. The threat as to Moscow applied particularly to the depots of the army stores destined for Manchuria.

The action of the Moscow Corn exchange in addressing a petition to the emperor on the subject of his recent rescript shows the extent of the liberal movement, only two of the 46 members present raising a timid voice against the address, which contained a reference to "Liberating the People," even these two later signing the address.

Wagner Concert on March 31.

An error was made in giving out the first announcement of the Wagner concert at the Y. M. C. A. in that the date was given as Tuesday, Mar. 31, whereas the concert takes place this coming Thursday, March 31. Seats for this affair are now on sale at the secretary's office in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Attorney C. C. Grassham will go to St. Louis tonight to take depositions. He intended to go to Smithland tomorrow but will postpone his visit.

Had to Offer an Apology.

It appears that a good many people got the idea that the Goodman sale at 206 Broadway was to commence March 17 and consequently the crowd this morning got rather boisterous after the announcement was made at the store that none would be able to purchase a dollar's worth of goods till Saturday morning. Still they left good naturedly, when at one time it looked like the proprietors would have to call the police to quell the disturbance.

The Wings of the Morning

By LOUIS TRACY

Copyright, 1933, by Edward J. Clode

He laid her tenderly on the sand and rose to his feet. His first glance was toward the sea. He saw something which made him blink with astonishment. A heavy sea was still running over the barrier reef which inclosed a small lagoon. The contrast between the fierce commotion outside and the comparatively smooth surface of the protected pool was very marked. At low tide the lagoon was almost completely isolated. Indeed he imagined that only a fierce gale blowing from the northwest would enable the waves to leap the reef, save where a strip of broken water, surging far into the small natural harbor, betrayed the position of the tiny entrance.

Yet at this very point a fine coconut palm reared its stately column high in air, and its long, tremulous fronds were now swinging wildly before the gale. From where he stood it appeared to be growing in the midst of the sea, for huge breakers completely hid the coral embankment. This sentinel of the land had a weirdly impressive effect. It was the only fixed object in the waste of foam capped waves. Not a vestige of the lagoon remained seaward, but the sand was littered with wreckage, and—mournful spectacle—a considerable number of inanimate human forms lay huddled up amid the relics of the steamer.

This discovery stirred him to action. He turned to survey the land on which he was stranded with his helpless companion. To his great relief he discovered that it was lofty and tree clad. He knew that the ship could not have drifted to lagoon, which still lay far to the south. This must be one of the hundreds of islands which stud the China sea and provide resorts for Hawaiian fishermen. Probably it was inhabited, though he thought it strange that none of the islanders had put in an appearance. In any event water and food of some sort were assured. But before setting out upon his quest two things demanded attention. The girl must be removed from her present position. It would be too horrible to permit her first conscious gaze to rest upon those crumpled objects on the beach. Common humanity demanded, too, that he should hastily examine each of the bodies in case life was not wholly extinct.

So he bent over the girl, noting with sudden wonder that, weak as she was, she had managed to refasten part of her bodice.

"You must permit me to carry you a little farther inland," he explained gently.

Without another word he lifted her in his arms, marveling somewhat at the strength which came of necessity, and bore her some little distance until a sturdy rock jutting out of the sand offered shelter from the wind and protection from the sea and its revelations.

"I am so cold and tired," murmured Iris. "Is there any water? My throat hurts me."

He pressed back the tangled hair from her forehead as he might soothe a child.

"Try to be still for a few minutes," he said. "You have not long to suffer. I will return immediately."

His own throat and palate were on fire owing to the brine, but he first hurried back to the edge of the lagoon. There were fourteen bodies in all, three women and eleven men, four of the latter being Lascars. The women were saloon passengers whom he did not know. One of the men was the surgeon, another the first officer, a third Sir John Tozer. The rest were passengers and members of the crew. They were all dead; some had been peacefully drowned, others were fearfully mangled by the rocks. Two of the Lascars, bearing signs of dreadful injuries, were lying on a cluster of low rocks overhanging the water. The remainder rested on the sand.

The sailor exhibited no visible emotion when he conducted his sad scrutiny. When he was assured that this silent company was beyond mortal help he at once strode away toward the nearest belt of trees. He could not tell how long the search for water might be protracted, and there was pressing need for it.

When he reached the first clump of brushwood he uttered a delighted exclamation. There, growing in prodigal luxuriance, was the beneficent pitcher plant, whose large curled up leaf, shaped like a teacup, not only holds a luscious quantity of rain water, but mixes therewith its own palatable and natural juices.

With his knife he severed two of the leaves and hastened to Iris with the precious beverage. She heard him and managed to raise herself on an elbow. The poor girl's eyes glistened at the prospect of relief. Without a word of question or surprise she swallowed the contents of both leaves.

"Then she found utterance," "How odd it tastes. What is it?" she inquired.

But the eagerness with which she quenched her thirst renewed his own momentarily forgotten torture. His tongue seemed to swell. He was absolutely unable to reply.

The water revived Iris like a magic draft. Her quick intuition told her what had happened.

"You have had none yourself!" she cried. "Go at once and get some! And please bring me some more!"

He required no second bidding. After hastily gulping down the contents of several leaves he returned with a further supply. Iris was now sitting up. The sun had burst royally through the clouds, and her chilled limbs were gaining some degree of warmth and elasticity.

"What is it?" she repeated after another delicious draft.

"The leaf of the pitcher plant. Nature is not always cruel. In an unusually generous mood she devised this method of storing water."

Miss Deane reached out her hand for more. Her troubled brain refused to wonder at such a reply from an ordinary seaman. The sailor deliberately spilled the contents of a remaining leaf on the sand.

"No, madam," he said, with an odd mixture of deference and firmness. "No more at present. I must first procure you some food."

She looked up at him in momentary silence.

"The ship is lost?" she said after a pause.

"Yes, madam."

"Are we the only people saved?"

"I fear so."

"Is this a desert island?"

"I think not, madam. It may by chance be temporarily uninhabited, but fishermen from China come to all these places. I have seen no other living beings except ourselves. Nevertheless the islanders may live on the south side."

"I surely cannot be possible that the Sirdar has gone to pieces—a magnificent vessel of her size and strength?"

He answered quietly: "It is too true, madam. I suppose you hardly knew she struck. It happened so suddenly. Afterward, fortunately for you, you were unconscious."

"How do you know?" she inquired quickly. A flood of vivid recollection was pouring in upon her.

"I—er—well, I happened to be near you, madam, when the ship broke up, and we—er—drifted ashore together."

She rose and faced him. "I remember now," she cried hysterically. "You caught me as I was thrown into the corridor. We fell into the sea when the vessel turned over. You have saved my life. Were it not for you I could not possibly have escaped."

She gazed at him more earnestly, seeing that he blushed beneath the crust of salt and sand that covered his face. "Why," she went on, with growing excitement, "you are the steward I noticed in the saloon yesterday. How is it that you are now dressed as a sailor?"

He answered readily enough. "There was an accident on board during the gale, madam. I am a fair sailor, but a poor steward, so I applied for a transfer. As the crew was short handed, my offer was accepted."

DREAD OF HUMANITY

I am compelled by a sense of gratitude to tell you the great good your remedy has done me in a case of Contagious Blood Poison. Among other symptoms I was severely afflicted with Rheumatism, and got almost past going. The disease got a firm hold upon my system; my blood was thoroughly poisoned with the virus. I lost in weight, was run down, had sore throat, eruptions, spots and other evidences of the disease. I was truly in a bad shape when I began the use of S. S. S., but the persistent use of it brought me out of my trouble safe and sound, and I have the courage to publicly testify to the virtues of your great blood remedy, S. S. S., and to recommend it to all blood-poison sufferers, sincerely believing if it is taken according to directions, and given a fair trial, it will thoroughly eliminate every particle of the virus. JAMES CURRAN, Stark Hotel, Greensburg, Pa.

Painful swellings in the groins, red eruptions upon the skin, sores in the mouth and loss of hair and eyebrows, are some of the symptoms of this vile disease, S. S. You Get Up

In the morning tired, languid, and frequently with a headache that is almost unbearable. You have been nervous, restless and sleepless night after night, and gloomy and irritable during the day. This nervous exhaustion affects the heart, lungs and other organs that depend upon the nerves for motive power. Then the stomach fails to digest the food; the heart action is weak, and circulation poor, and the kidneys and liver inactive.

What you need is not a stomach, head, kidney or liver medicine, but Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic to soothe and feed the nerves and build nerve tissue.

"My wife was subject to severe mental strain, which resulted in nervous prostration. The first symptoms were uncontrollable crying and melancholy spells, which increased to such an extent that for over a year she would have a spell every day of from four to six hours duration. She required the constant attention of her physician and attendants. She suffered great pain and anguish. The best physicians attending her could give no relief, and she finally became almost of unsound mind. As a last resort I began giving her Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic, and noticed that her spells next day were not so severe, and they gradually disappeared altogether. She has had no recurrence of the spells, and is gaining in health and strength."

Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

TIME OF GRAND JURY EXTENDED ONE WEEK

At Princeton to Investigate Court House Fire.

Negro Gets a Life Sentence For Murder—Alleged Incendiaries Are Convicted.

BLAZE THERE THIS MORNING.

Judge Gordon has issued a special charge to the grand jury in regard to the effort Monday to burn the courthouse here. He said in part: "I want you to follow every possible clue take up every particle of evidence obtainable and if possible to locate the guilty party. It may be that the crime was committed in an attempt to 'bulldoze' this court, but I want the man or men who did it to distinctly understand that this court don't 'bulldoze.' It is here to uphold the law and it is going to do so no matter who he is that commits such a crime. I want you to understand that the court is behind you in all you do and behind the court is the commonwealth and the law must be enforced."

He extended the time of the grand jury until next Saturday to give them plenty of time to investigate the attempt at burning and every citizen in the county would delight in seeing the fiend brought to justice.

"Bob" Asher, colored, for the murder of Frank Nichols, last fall, was sentenced for life. The crime was committed on the night of September 19th, last, and was a most cowardly one, as Frank Nichols was called from his house at 9 p. m. and shot down as he came into the yard. Asher and Nichols had had considerable trouble for some time and suspicion pointed at once to Asher. He was arrested the morning after the murder while boarding the train for Cairo, Ill.

Mac Beverly was given five years in the penitentiary by the jury in his case Thursday on one count, burning the residence of L. H. Shauschild. "Jim" Beverly, brother of "Mac," was indicted by the grand jury for burning the stable of R. L. Sheppard last fall.

School Board Arranges For New Schools

The school board met in special session last night for the purpose of considering building two new school houses this summer, and took definite action in both.

It was decided to begin at once on the matter of building a school in Mechanicsburg on the Herzog lot, and Mr. Fred Hoyer, superintendent of buildings, ordered to complete his plans and specifications at once for submission to the board and contractors.

The building will be a four-room school with basement. The basement will not be built this year nor will the additional story, but the builders will erect the school, so an additional four stories can be added with little expense, if demanded by increasing attendance in that portion of the city.

The board decided to build this year in Rowlandtown and President H. F. Williamson appointed the school committee, composed of Trustees Walston, Mattison, Bacon and C. W. Morrison, to investigate into a site, and report back as soon as possible.

A protest was filed from thirty teachers against the proposed regulation requiring teachers who do not hold a late certificate to take an examination. The teachers do not think this is necessary, but the trustees think it the proper thing to do inasmuch as sixteen teachers lately installed have taken the late examinations, which are much harder than those fifteen years ago, and this is one fourth of the teaching forces of the schools, making three-fourths holding certificates secured from fifteen years ago to the present date. The idea of the authorities is to have all teachers stand equal in the matter of certificates.

Nothing definite was done in this matter further than to file the protest, but it will come up for action at the next regular meeting.

It is tipped that principals will be elected at the next meeting of the board instead of in June. This will be done because principals hold important positions, and should not have to wait until after school is over to ascertain whether or not they are to be retained. The board should know if principals are satisfactory and if it wants them to continue, and for those who may not be retained, will be a favor because it will give time to secure other positions elsewhere.

The next meeting of the board will be held on Monday night, preceding the regular meeting night. This was changed because of several matters requiring immediate action.

THE WHOLE WORKS

THE CADIZ AND GRACEY RAILROAD HERE YESTERDAY.

His Motive Power Is in the Shop Here—It Is One Engine.

Mr. W. C. White, who bears the distinction of being president, general manager, general agent, roadmaster, trainmaster and in fact every officer in one of the Cadiz and Gracy railroad, was in the city yesterday to have his engine repaired and closed a contract with the I. C. to overhaul the machine.

President White runs a small road between Cadiz and Gracy and has one engine, two passenger coaches and one or two box and flat cars. He made no arrangement for leasing an engine from the I. C., but may have rented or leased one from some other road until his engine can be repaired, otherwise his road will suspend operation during the repairing of his motive power.

The engine will arrive within ten days and receive a thorough overhauling and will look like a new locomotive when she comes out of the shop.

Mr. Gilbert is an expert on shoes, as well as a young man of unusual intelligence, energy and popularity, and he will no doubt make a great success on the road.
